NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower was pictured today as "absolutely insistent on maintaining a strictly neutral position" toward Sen. Robert A. Taft and any other Republicans in the running for the position as Senate majority leader.

An aide said that under no circumstances would the general take sides, and that support for Taft voiced by two GOP senators after conferences with Eisenhower represented their own views.

The aide said Eisenhower is so determined to be neutral that he has declined to discuss the leadership issue with even his closest associates.

The general takes the position, said the aide, that it is a matter for Senate Republicans alone to decide.

There were signs, meanwhile, that if Taft decides he wants the leadership post he will have the backing of a group of GOP senators who supported Eisenhower against the Ohioan for the presidential nomination.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, an Eisenhower adviser during the campaign, conferred with the general Tuesday and told a news conference afterward that if Taft wants to be Republican leader of the Senate, "I presume he will be." And Carlson added he would favor Taft for the job if he bids for it.

Both Carlson and Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey predicted there will be no fight among Senate Republicans over the post. They said they are convinced Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire doesn't want it.

Taft, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, has said he is available for the job but is not making a fight for it. Bridges, minority leader in the Democratic-controlled 82nd Congress, has made it clear he would bid for the majority spot only in an effort to avert a party fight.

Senators in Washington noted that most original Eisenhower backers in the Senate previously had been boosting Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) or Saltonstall (R-Mass.) for leader.

One GOP senator who did not want his name used told a reporter today the Senate organization problems had all been worked out and that Taft would be floor leaders.

This senator said Bridges would be president pro tem and appropriations chairman. Knowland would be chairman of the policy committee and Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) would stay on as chairman of the Conference of All Republican Senators.

Another source said Taft had made great headway Monday in talking to Republican senators here Monday and had convinced several they should support him for Senate leader.

A third source told a reporter he did not consider Bridges completely out of the leadership picture yet.

The possibility of a battle was underscored when Taft sharply criticized Eisenhower's selection of Martin P. Durkin, the head of an AFL labor union, as his secretary of labor in the new administration. Durkin, a Democrat, backed Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for the presidency.

Durkin called on Eisenhower Tuesday and told reporters he still wants to get together with Taft to talk over the possibility of amending the Taft-Hartley labor law. Durkin said he hopes to arrange a conference after he takes office Jan. 23.

IKE-MAC CONFERENCE IS NOW UNDERWAY

Big Christmas Mail On Move At Office Here

Mailing Of Greeting Cards 48,090 Ahead Of Last Year

The greatest Christmas mail ever pouring through the Washington C. H. Post Office is now on the move.

Postmaster W. E. Passmore said Wednesday that at the close of business Tuesday evening, 48,090 more Christmas cards had been mailed than at the close of business on Dec. 16 last year.

The total number mailed here Tuesday was 47,290 and the number of packages was 602.

As result of the vast amount of mail being posted here, Postmaster Passmore said the Post Office windows would be open for receiving packages and selling stamps Sunday from 9 A. M. until 12 noon and from 2 P. M. until 5 P. M.

The post office also is to remain open Saturday until 6 P. M.

This will afford opportunity for a large number of persons to obtain stamps and mail packages who could not conveniently do so on other days.

AT THE CLOSE of business Monday night, the number of cards mailed was 15,000 ahead of that of last year. The total number of cards mailed was 42,140.

A total of 652 packages was mailed Monday; that was next to the heaviest day on record at the office here.

Mail received is cleared as far as possible every day, and mail for local delivery also is sent out each day. It is not permitted to back up in the office, where a great deal of space is taken by the heavy influx of packages and other mail.

It is expected that the remainder of this week will be unusually heavy and that Monday will be another extremely big day.

Buying stamps in quantity and separating the cards so that those for local delivery are in one package and those for out of town delivery are in another package, is helping facilitate the handling of mail, Passmore said.

Ship Battered

LEGHORN, Italy (AP) — Violent winds and heavy seas resumed their battering of the broken U. S. refrigerator ship Grommet Reefer today, holding up Navy plans to attempt salvage of the 3,800-tonner's grounded halves and the 176 or so tons of foodstuffs aboard.

A well known Record-Country woman called the Record-Herald to make a suggestion well in keeping with the Christmas season.

She said she had been reading and listening to the newspaper and radio appeals from Columbus that people send packages of little articles to brighten the spirit of more than 800 men, doubtless women also, who are inmates of the State Hospital for the Insane at Columbus.

The appeals indicate that most of these unfortunate people have no one to give them any attention at Christmas time, other than officials of the institution. Many of these patients deeply appreciate getting a little gift or box at Christmas time. It gives them a touch of the Christmas feeling.

The woman who called suggested that if individuals or organizations of this community would respond by sending little gifts or boxes to these people, directing them to the institution, they would be adding a lot of Christmas cheer to some very drab lives. She urged that such action be taken at once as there is not time now for organizing such a movement here.

AN UNUSUAL CASE, according to game warden Robert Myers, was this one involving a high school youth at Honesdale, Pa., who shot a doe near his home. Myers decided the youth was innocent of wrong-doing since the doe had antlers.

Owen Lattimore Indicted By Jury

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury has accused Owen Lattimore of swearing falsely that he had never been a sympathizer or promoter of communism or Communist interests.

The indictment returned Tuesday afternoon also accused the Far Eastern specialist and occasional State Department consultant of lying under oath on six other points during his testimony before the Senate internal security subcommittee last spring. The indictment termed all seven points "material."

"I am, of course, innocent," Lattimore said Tuesday. He is due to be arraigned Friday. Trial date may be fixed then.

Lattimore has been a frequent target of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.)

Girl Identifies Ohio Soldier

Army Court Martial Hears Abduction Case

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Mamie Ruth Shelton, 18, today identified Pvt. Eugene R. Walters by his voice as the man who allegedly abducted her and made indecent advances at gunpoint.

The petite red-haired American girl was spared the embarrassment of describing her experience before a curious public. Her testimony was heard only by the 12-man military court which is trying Walters.

Miss Shelton admitted she could not identify Walters by sight. But the accused 31-year-old soldier from Harrod, Ohio, was directed to utter a series of statements which she said were made by her assailant.

Asked if she could identify that voice, she said "yes."

Asked where she first heard it, she said it was last Feb. 3 in the car where she was held prisoner.

Miss Shelton, step-daughter of M-Sgt. F. B. Burns of Hot Springs, Va., was slightly nervous during her three hours on the witness stand, but "did not seem very upset," court members said. She emerged from the courtroom smiling and skipped over to seat herself on the lap of her fiancé, Sgt. Herbert L. Evans, of Roxboro, N. C., who was with her when she was abducted.

Miss Shelton was the first witness to identify Walters as the gun-carrying assailant who allegedly robbed Miss Shelton's two soldier companions and drove off with her in their car. He has pleaded innocent "by reason of insanity."

Meat Sale Case To Be Aired in Court Saturday

Board Of Health Maintains Stand Against Seizure

W. W. Montgomery, the Fayette County extension agent, is to tell his story about the unexplained case he already has told the Health Board he sold to the Children's Home Saturday at 9:30 A. M. in municipal court.

He appeared in court Wednesday morning on three charges of "selling or offering for sale meat that had not been inspected" in accordance with the Health Department regulations.

He posted a $500 cash bond for his appearance Saturday morning. He was not represented by an attorney.

The case, which has generated considerable turmoil both pro and con, through the city and county, broke wide open Sunday when the Health Board was called into special session to hear Montgomery's story.

ANOTHER SPECIAL meeting was held by the board Tuesday afternoon to consider what action should be taken regarding the disposition of the approximately 1,500 pounds of beef Montgomery said had been placed in the Farm Bureau Locker plant on Main Street after six calves had been slaughtered on his farm on the Snowhill Pike by him and his son, Barton Montgomery. Montgomery told the board at the Sunday meeting, the calves, weighing about 400 pounds apiece, were butchered when they bled excessively during castration.

After considerable discussion, and hearing what Dr. D. R. Junk, the board's inspector, had to say regarding the meat, the board voted unanimously to stand by its action taken Sunday and to permit Montgomery to keep the meat for consumption by himself and family.

Dr. Gordon Savage, in opening the meeting, stated that he had asked Dr. Junk to express his opinion regarding the meat.

Dr. Junk stated that all information indicated that the animals were dying from loss of blood when slaughtered and that he believed meat slaughtered under such conditions should be condemned and disposed of to a rendering plant.

Couple Married 73 Years; She's 94; But He's Only 101

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. William W. Lambeth are celebrating their 73rd wedding anniversary today, but quietly. They're still a bit tucked under observing his 101st birthday.

On that occasion, Dec. 4, all six children were on hand. There was open house, with friends coming and going, and dinner and a cake. Today there would be a good dinner, at least five of the children present but otherwise quiet.

Lambeth, who weighs 113 now, weighed only 70 pounds when he was 19 years old.

The doctors thought he had heart trouble. If he did, he outgrew it. They say he has a very good heart now and the blood pressure of a young man.

Christmas Fun For Puritan Kid Carried Moral Teaching

BOSTON (AP)—Children of 90 years ago had to swallow capsules of solid moral teaching along with their Christmas fun.

A peek at the exhibit of early American toys and games at the Boston Children's Museum leaves no doubt that the Puritan fathers had a big thumb in the Christmas pie. The exhibit gives a rough idea of some items the 19th century Santa Claus carried in his pack.

Likely as not, he'd show up with a phrenastroscope. The whole family could twist a tongue around a name like that. And just when you'd master it, you'd learn he'd left the kids across the street a zoetrope. These were the nearest things to movies and television great grandpa had as a boy.

Of course, you could do other things in those days that you can't do today. You could rush out with wooden things tied on your feet, sled-runners on the bottom of them, and you could skate on the snow. That's what it said on the directions, anyway. The 19th century version of snow skates seems to have disappeared.

Jeffersonville Lions Have Big Yule Party

Seventeen members of the Jeffersonville Lions Club, their wives and 15 of their children and two guests gathered in the Community room there Tuesday evening for the club's annual Christmas party.

The party got underway with a big dinner of turkey and venison and all the trimmings. Both the turkey, 30 pounds of it, and 15 pounds of venison, were donated.

The guests were Mrs. John Draper and Roger Klever of the Air Force, who has been assigned to duty in Germany when he returns from his Christmas furlough.

Among the highlights of the evening were the gift exchange among the adults and the giving of gifts to the children at the party.

Formality was cast aside for the evening—and everyone had a good time.

Rev. F. M. Moon led group in playing guessing games related to the holiday season and Max Morrow led the singing of Christmas carols.

There was no speaker of the evening and there was very little business transacted.

It was announced, however, that the fox drive—possibly three of them—would be held as planned Saturday. The drivers are to meet at the Community room in the morning and will be taken to the site, or sites, of the drive in trucks. At noon they are to return to the Community room for lunch that the Lionesses will serve there.

Work on the approxi mately 20 Christmas baskets the club is preparing for less fortunate families in the community is nearing completion. Several contributions have come in from outside the club membership, it was said.

Workman Killed, Three Hurt In Hotel Electrical Explosion

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sprayed with flaming oil, one workman was killed and three others burned in an electrical explosion early today in the Hotel Hollenden.

Carl H. Brown, 47, a workman for the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. for 27 years, was killed.

Critical in Lutheran Hospital was Harold Wagner, 48, another veteran CEI employe. His body was covered with second degree burns.

Joseph Augusta, 27, was fair in Charity Hospital with less severe burns, and John Parchanin, 57, received only a slight burn on his right arm.

Six hundred guests in the 1,000-room hotel were unaware of the muffled explosion, and the oil blaze was quickly put out with fire extinguishers.

LIGHTS AND power in the hotel went off and service was only half restored at daybreak.

Battalion Chief Martin O'Brien estimated damage at about $5,000. He said the cause of the explosion was not determined.

Wagner, Augusta and Brown were transferring 4,340 volts of alternating current from one cable switch to another in a basement vault. The electrical switch was encased in oil.

Parchanin, a hotel maintenance worker, said his back was turned and he was walking away when the blast occurred.

"That was at 2:15 a. m.," Parchanin said. "The three men were hurled out by the impact and I saw them all running around and burning. They all started to roll on the floor to put out the flames. I picked up a bucket of water and threw it on them."

Talk Concerns MacArthur's War Solution

Dulles' Home Used As Meeting Place For Two Famous Generals

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur conferred today in the home of John Foster Dulles, the secretary of state-designate.

The meeting was arranged following MacArthur's statement there was a clear and definite solution to the Korean war.

Eisenhower and Dulles left the President-elect's Commodore Hotel headquarters together to keep the appointment with the former Far East commander who was ousted by President Truman. MacArthur traveled separately to the Dulles home for what was described as a luncheon meeting.

James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, announced the conference shortly after the general and Dulles left the Eisenhower Commodore Hotel headquarters.

THE PRESIDENT-elect's list of appointments for the day had contained no mention of MacArthur, but it did list at 1 p. m. appointment with Dulles.

The general had no further appointments scheduled for the day, which would permit the President-elect and MacArthur as much time as needed for a discussion of the Korean problem.

EARLIER, Eisenhower announced plans for a series of meetings with GOP congressional leaders to discuss "methods of controlling inflation" and other problems.

The first of the meetings, Eisenhower said in a statement, will be held in his Commodore Hotel headquarters Thursday with House leaders.

Sitting in with the general will be Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, slated to be speaker of the House, Rep. Charles Halleck, of Indiana, in line for the job of floor leader, and Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois.

Eisenhower said another meeting to follow "as promptly as possible" will bring in leading senators.

They include Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who served as minority leader in the Democratic-controlled 82nd Congress, Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the conference of all Republican senators, and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

Hagerty said the meeting with the Senate group probably will be held between Christmas and New Year's Day.

German Farming Plan Described To Lions Club

'Horse-and-Buggy' Methods Still Used, Speaker Declares

Members of the Washington C. H. Lions club today had a much better conception of the way of life in Germany after hearing B. W. Reading, the extension agent from Sandusky County, recount some of his experiences and observations while in Germany eight months in 1951 helping organize and develop an agricultural extension service there.

Germany, he declared, is still in the horse-and-buggy stage in agriculture, but in industry has produced the most modern materials and machinery for war.

The Germans, he said, also had produced many articles for trade with other nations, but not much for themselves.

TURNING HIS TALK back to agriculture, Reading said:

"Less than five percent of the farm home kitchens have ovens. Very few washing machines and only a fraction of one percent have electric refrigerators.

"Of the 22 schools I visited which are receiving Marshall Plan Aid, not one had a refrigerator, even though they teach home economics and agricultural courses.

"Of all the farm homes I visited, only one had an electric refrigerator. German people are content with depending on the cellar. Kitchens are large, but certainly not convenient. Modernizing a German kitchen consists merely of adding a new storage cabinet."

"Labor is cheap. The German people ask: 'What would all of our people do with their time if we used labor-saving machinery and equipment?' They prefer to continue to use the old methods so long as people can keep busy.

"A wheat drill, for instance, has no tongue. It is guided by a ruler-stick similar to that on a boat, while another person drives the team. This way two people, instead of just one, can be kept busy. The drill is used only to sow the grain. Fertilizer is broadcast by hand. Instead of mixing several ingredients into one balanced application, each ingredient is applied separately."

"THE WESTERN sector of Germany is about 24 times the size of Ohio and has a population of 50 million people. Fifteen million of these have migrated from the Eastern section behind the 'iron curtain' since the close of World War II. Only about 15 million remain at present in the Eastern sector."

"Farms are small. In central Germany (Western sector), 80 percent of them are 12 acres or less in size. The largest farm I visited in the northwestern section contained 500 acres and 65 hired hands were employed.

"There are no school buses in Germany.

Nothing is rationed but prices are high. A brick mason, highest paid laboring man, works four hours for price of one loaf of bread and a pound of butter. Auto license tag costs 255 dollars. Government owns railroads and attempts to keep auto-owning at a minimum.

"The 'bread-basket' of Germany is behind the iron curtain. Most of the food processing factories and the best farm land is behind iron curtain. Greatest need of people in Western Germany is food.

"If eastern and western Germany are not reunited within the next few years, this will provide the basis for another war in Germany."

"THERE IS SOME progress being made toward solving the food problem in Western Germany. But it would not be possible without U. S. aid.

"Considerable building now in progress. Most of rubble of World War II has been cleared out of the streets. Most bridges have been repaired or replaced. War damage was confined primarily to cities. Little damage in farm areas."

"The iron curtain separating eastern and western Germany is actually a strip of land one mile wide. Two western German soldiers guard every road on their side of the strip and two Russian soldiers guard every road on their side of the strip. The strip is actually a 'no-man's-land' and only farmers who till the farm land of the strip are permitted on the strip. To be sure that no one doubts where the boundary line is, the Russians have cleared a strip 455 feet wide the entire length of the iron curtain of every tree and living thing, including grass.

"German people have fun, but nevertheless seem to live only for one purpose: that someday, somehow they might come to America and enjoy freedom and opportunity."

Reading illustrated his talk with colored slides of pictures he had taken in Germany.

MOST OF THE evening was devoted to Reading's discussion, which many of the Lions later enthusiastically described as the outstanding program of the year. Although Reading spoke for more than an hour and a half, many of the Lions remained until after 10 P. M. plying him with questions about Germany.

The business part of the meeting was "short, but important," as Robert Sanderson, the president expressed it.

Wayne Bower announced that the annual Lions Minstrel would be given two nights, Feb. 11 and 12, in the high school auditorium. The first rehearsal is scheduled for Feb. 9.

Don Gibson, the deputy district governor, presented a recognition award by the district office to John Briener, who received a "perfect" rating on prescribed reports made to district headquarters during the first six months of the fiscal year.

Meat Sale Case

condemning the meat because it was not fit to eat or because of the legal regulation, Junk replied he would not like to eat the meat.

Landrum said he had talked with Allan Sells at the Farm Bureau Locker plant, and had been told by him there was no evidence of excess blood in the meat.

Walter Sollars, another board member, said he was present and saw some of the butchering, and had been given a liver and heart, and had found them all right when eaten. "I am not afraid to eat the meat," Sollars said.

Sollars moved that the board stick by the stand taken Sunday and turn the meat over to Montgomery. After much discussion it carried by unanimous vote.

SOLLARS ASKED to make this statement: "I have known Montgomery for many years, as one of the county's leading citizens. Prosecution was for some innocent offense that had harmed no one and no one could be harmed by it. "Montgomery simply looked at the matter from a farmer's standpoint and acted accordingly."

Roscoe Duff, another board member, said that there was "butchering galore among farmers."

Another board member commended Montgomery's cooperation in the case after he realized he had made a mistake.

It was brought out during the informal discussion after the meeting that farmers have made a practice of butchering and selling to each other and to their friends for years without inspection. These remarks were related directly to the one by Duff that there is "butchering galore among farmers."

The law provides for inspection of all meat that is offered for sale, whether to an institution or an individual.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Owen Lattimore has been a running tongue-battle with some senators for two years. Now he's in the worst jam of his life. A federal grand jury has indicted him on seven charges of lying under oath.

At 52 Lattimore is a vigorous, stocky, balding man with eye-glasses. And he's an emotional man, judging from the heat with which he has always responded to senators' attempts to link him with communism.

Besides being a specialist on Far Eastern affairs and, in the past, a state Department consultant, he is a lecturer at Johns Hopkins University.

Many times, facing a committee in the Capitol, he has sounded like a professor denouncing a mob of disorderly freshman. This didn't endear him to the senators.

Lattimore's bad days began in March, 1950, when Sen. McCarthy called him a security risk.

McCarthy created a national sensation for himself and Lattimore when he said the Far Eastern specialist was the top Soviet espionage agent in this country. Shortly afterwards he called Lattimore the chief architect of our Asian policy.

Needless to say, Lattimore denounced the Wisconsin senator.

But a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, headed by the then Sen. Tydings, Maryland Democrat, began hearings on the whole range of charges made by Republican McCarthy.

When the hearings ended the Democratic senators on the committee gave Lattimore a clean bill of health. That might have been the end of Lattimore's troubles, except that another committee began an investigation of U. S. policies in the Far East, where the Communists had taken over China and we were in a war in Korea.

This committee—the Senate subcommittee on internal security, led by a Democrat, Sen. McCarran of Nevada—seized in a barn in Lee, Mass., in February, 1951, some files of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

The IPR, an international research organization, was founded in 1925 with the avowed purpose of promoting greater knowledge of the Pacific area. Lattimore, an IPR trustee, was editor of Pacific Affairs, an IPR magazine, from 1934 to 1941.

Witnesses told the McCarran Committee IPR had been infiltrated by Communists. So the committee was investigating it as part of its inquiry into Communist influences on our Far Eastern policy.

Several witnesses—one of them was Louis Budenz—told the committee Lattimore had supported pro-Communist views. Testifying under oath, Lattimore swore he was not a Communist, not a Communist sympathizer and not a Soviet agent. In addition, he said

Supt. Stephen C. Brown today is back from a one-day school lighting clinic at Nela Park, a Cleveland suburb, with some ideas to pass along to the city school board.

Supt. Brown said he went there to learn what he could about modern lighting for possible improvements in the systems in the present school buildings and for a background for the projected building program for the city schools.

Supt. Brown was one of 22 school administrators from nine western Ohio counties to whom principles and techniques of classroom lighting were demonstrated at the General Electric Institute at Nela Park.

The program, which was promoted by the Dayton Power & Light Co. also included a study of various lights used in schools, indoor sports lighting and auditorium and stage lighting.

Purpose of the program was to show how modern lighting techniques help to promote scholastic achievements and protect the eyesight of students.

The General Electric Institute was designed to present new de-

Long Past Time For An Official Clean-up

Efforts to weed out American Communists and sympathizers from the United Nations are moving to a climax. Secretary General Lie, who at one time resented activities of congressional probe committees and a U. S. grand jury, has seen the light. He did a complete about-face after a federal grand jury scorched the hiring of Communists for U. S. jobs in the international organization which has its headquarters in New York City, and intimated efforts had been made by Washington to hamper the jury.

This grand jury, sitting for months in New York, together with the McCarran Senate investigating committee, was instrumental in cracking the UN Commie mess wide open. It was at the jury's hearings that some of the prize suspects refused to talk on grounds of self-incrimination, thus quickening the chase.

It is the jury's contention that the names of applicants for the jobs at the UN, sent to the State Department for checking, were perfunctorily okayed, though the department's security files bulged with damaging information.

Apologists for the State Department are now saying that the department was unwittingly party to a conspiracy of such magnitude, that the same ineptitude for which the department has become famous carried over into appointment of these characters to UN jobs.

One explanation goes even farther. It is said that the State Department was "glad" to get some of these specimens on the UN payroll then it would not be embarrassed by their presence in Washington, D. C.

A Law Violation

The Fayette County Health Department officials are to be commended for their action in attempting to stop any sale of uninspected meat in this county.

The prompt action taken by Dr. Gordon E. Savage, the director, and the members of the county health board, in the case of a prominent Fayette County farmer who holds a very important agricultural position here, by filing charges necessary to bring the matter into court, speaks well for the attitude of these officials in giving attention to such cases where the law has been violated.

Regardless of the circumstances in the case, even though the individual's action was said to be a thoughtless one without intention of violating the law the matter could not be officially ignored. If it had been, the regular merchants and others who lawfully offer meat for sale and are careful to obey the statutes as to inspection by a qualified and duly appointed official, would feel that they definitely are being discriminated against.

It is felt that this case, which was the object of considerable publicity and much comment and rumor because of the prominence of the party involved, will have a salutary effect and will serve to make clear that the law requiring inspection of food products was enacted for public benefit.

That all citizens should obey the law is a fundamental concept of good citizenship and is so generally recognized.

Two jet fighters burn as much fuel per hour as an entire World War II fighter squadron. They do if the gasoline is refined for them, that is.

Wonders never cease. A radio quiz contest has turned up a citizen who knows all the verses of the national anthem.

Who Shall Call Tune In Korea?

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (U)—How can the Chinese Reds be made to want peace?

The answer holds the key to what will happen next in the Korean war.

President-elect Dwight Eisenhower stated the problem clearly in an off-the-cuff summary of his trip to the embattled peninsula: "Just because one side wants peace doesn't make peace. We must go ahead and do things that induce the others to want peace also."

This echoed a belief Gen. Eisenhower phrased this way in a more formal statement: "We face an enemy whom we cannot hope to impress by words, however eloquent, but only by deeds—executed under circumstances of our own choosing."

These two significant sentences herald a real effort to change the stalemated Korean situation—a period when the present groping yearning for peace will be replaced by some kind of action to win it.

What form will that action take? Naturally Eisenhower must remain silent on this point at this time. But there are two ways to get a donkey to move forward: (A) Hold some hay out in front of him, or (B) Kick and beat him until he decides it is wiser to obey you.

And there would seem to be only two general methods of action to make the Chinese Reds want peace:

1. Through diplomatic channels offer some kind of reward that would make them wish to reach a cease-fire in Korea, and move out of the orbit of Red Russia toward the orbit of the Western powers. Assuming this could be done, such a program would possibly entail the jettisoning of Chiang-Kai-shek, who is powerfully supported in the American Congress.

2. Increase military pressure on Red China to such an extent that crippling losses would lead her to sue for a real peace, even against the wishes of Red Russia, who now supplies her with most of her heavy armaments.

The danger here, of course, is that such a program would fan the long-smoldering misery of Korea into a flaming third world war.

American professional military opinion is sharply divided on this question. Some career soldiers say we cannot risk taking steps that might extend the conflict and commit us to full-scale warfare in the Far East. Others say we cannot afford not to take those steps.

A general officer who holds this view recently expressed it to me as follows:

"Time is fighting on the other side, not on ours. The other fellow is building up faster than we are. We have to stop this business in Korea now."

"We are fighting the war the way the Chinese want it—on a fixed line. We don't have the manpower to win that way. Our cardinal principle in warfare is mobility, and we have to get back to the 'four F's' of the American Army—fight 'em, fix 'em, fight 'em and finish 'em."

"We need to use everything we have now and finish the Korean war as quickly as possible—by land attack, naval blockades, and bombing of Chinese seaports and Manchurian supply and armament centers—yes, by atom-bombing if necessary."

This officer, however, was against employing Chiang-Kai-shek's Formosa garrison troops in Korea, not because it would anger Red China to do so, but because he has no faith in the Nationalist soldiers.

"I'm afraid that two months after they were put in the line they'd be bought by the commies, and go over to the other side, carrying their arms with them," he said.

How widespread such views are in the professional army I have no way of knowing, but there is a growing impatience to do something positive to wind up a conflict that has caused 128,000 American casualties in 30 months.

Perhaps the most meaningful phase of Gen. Eisenhower's statement was his reference to future deeds to be "executed under circumstances of our own choosing."

It is hard to interpret that in any way except as a clear warning to the Chinese Reds that counter-initiative steps are planned, and they no longer will call all the tunes in Korea.

By George Sokolsky

In a monolithic world, even jazz becomes a political problem. Jazz is a kind of syncretized music which some people like to hear and have a right to under the Constitution. It is reputed to have been invented in New Orleans and its greatest exponent, I am told, is William C. Handy, one of the finest human beings I have ever encountered. Irving Berlin wrote "Alexander's Ragtime Band" in this mood when we were all younger, and there was a band called Jellyroll Morton's Red Hot Peppers.

However, I discover that M. Sokolsky, who must be a music commissar in Soviet Russia, and no relative of mine for all I know, has declared jazz condemned. He writes a long article on the subject which I have just read. In the United States anybody can like any kind of music from a hurdy-gurdy to Bach, Beethoven and Brahms without offending the government. True, Mr. Truman wrote a letter on the subject once, but no laws were broken. In Soviet Russia, it is different: jazz is condemned.

Says the music commissar, M. Sokolsky: "What, indeed, is less in harmony with our music, our Soviet songs, the Soviet people's great wealth of folklore, than a saxophone throbbing like an aching tooth or howling away, than trombones roaring deafeningly, or the monotonous, dull thump of the whole family of percussion instruments relentlessly hammering into the listeners' consciousness the mechanically repetitious rhythms of fox trot or rumba?"

"No! We are resolutely opposed to the artificial combination of our music with the jazz band; those who try to squeeze our music into jazz form by main force mutilate and mangle it."

It just goes to show that no two races of man can agree on anything. I was reading in this article a quotation from the original American hater, Maxim Gorky, and I was sure what he was describing was a symphony by Shostakovich as conducted by Leonard Bernstein:

"Suddenly the thoughtful silence is broken by the full beat of an idiotic drumstick—one, two, three, ten, 20 drumbeats and then like a lump of mud dropped into clear, transparent water, there comes a wild shrieking, whistling, roaring, howling and banging; inhuman voices, suggestive of a horse's neighing, burst forth, there is the grunting of brass pigs, the braying of donkeys, the croaking of frogs a-wooing; all this outrageous chaos of mad sound follows a barely perceptible rhythm; and after listening for a minute or two to these wails one involuntarily begins to imagine that an orchestra of madmen is performing."

But no. This is not Shostakovich; it is a description of American jazz. Gorky probably never heard of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," or the glorious music of "Porgy and Bess." For him, it is enough that jazz was made in America for it to be hated. Here is the punch line that tells the story:

"Need one mention too that jazz in the USA is not just 'art,' but like the Hollywood 'industry,' a business, an article of export. They call jazz there 'the music of big business.' The USA 'bestows upon' the Marshallized countries tens of millions of jazz records, along with Hollywood's trash. There is double profit and a double purpose in this: to dispose of unsold stocks and by the scurrying and squeal and roar of senseless, stupefying jazz 'music' to deafen, to kill the man in men, to turn them into cannon fodder. Jazz is the music of enslavement to the spirit."

In other words, jazz has politics, just as coarse grains and rubber have politics. There is so much politics in this world today that it has become a sickening tangle that pervades our lives. The British defend selling rubber to Stalin because they get coarse grains from him. They get also get coarse grains from the United States or Canada where they are plentiful but non-political. The British prefer political coarse grains, just as the Labour Party made a fetish of political peanuts in Africa.

I wonder if Stalin will one day condemn beer, Rhine wine and

Diet and Health Excessive Sweating Controlled By Drugs

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Excessive sweating can sometimes be kept under control by careful hygiene and special powder or lotions. Other cases are so severe that they require medical treatment. This type can embarrass a person so much that it is a real handicap.

Sweat, as most people know, is produced by the sweat glands in the skin, and by its evaporation helps cool the body. Various disorders can make these glands overactive. Usually they affect the glands throughout the body, but in some cases only those of the palms, soles, underarms and groin.

Anemia and diabetes, toxic goiter and fever are most frequently accompanied by excessive sweating. If a person is very much overweight and portly, or has some disorder of the internal glands, these conditions, too, may be factors in causing the sweat.

Many cases are due to a disturbance of the nervous system. Emotional upset may also be of importance as a possible cause. Many drugs and other methods have been used for excessive sweating. Psychotherapy has been successful with some of the nervous patients. Drugs such as atropine have been used to dry the skin and various powders have also helped in keeping it dry. Usually if the case is limited more or less to one area, a weak solution of aluminum chloride may be of help.

A drug known as methanethiol bromide is effective in controlling severe sweating. It must be used with care, however, for along with drying up the sweat, it sometimes dries the mouth, and causes constipation. It may also enlarge the pupils and make seeing difficult.

No Side Reactions

Recently a new drug has been used which seems to avoid these undesirable effects. Known as mephobarbital, it is a form of the barbiturate drugs, believed to work specifically on the brain center that controls sweating.

A person taking this drug does not become dull or sleepy or suffer the side reactions that come from taking other barbiturates. It is especially effective in cases where the emotions are believed to cause the excessive sweating.

Ethel Waters Tipped For Movie 'Oscar'

HOLLYWOOD (U)—The Academy Awards race is still months away but it looks now as if a Negro—for the first time in history—is in strong contention for the top actress award.

Ethel Waters, recreating the role she made famous on the stage in "Member of the Wedding," is the possibility.

As producers rush to get their top product on local screens to make the 1952 deadline, the race among the women shapes up as one of the most interesting in years.

At the moment it is Broadway 3 to 1 over Hollywood Shirley Booth in "Come Back, Little Sheba," Julie Harris in "Member of the Wedding," and Joan Crawford in "Sudden Fear," plus Miss Waters, are the most talked-of woman performers.

Although Miss Waters is recreating a stage role, she has been a movie veteran since the early talkie days. In addition, she steals "Member of the Wedding" even from such a highly touted actress as Julie Harris.

The late Hattie McDaniel was the only Negro to win an Academy Award. She won it in 1939 as best supporting actress for her role in "Gone With the Wind."

Mothers' Circle Christmas Party Enjoyable Event

Mrs. Robert Woodmansee extended the hospitality of her home Monday evening for the annual Christmas party of the Mothers' Circle.

Yuletide suggestions in revolving miniature Christmas trees and a beautiful mantel arrangement of Santa Claus and his reindeer added to the cheery atmosphere throughout the rooms and a short business session was presided over by Mrs. William Clift, vice president.

New members, Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Richard R. Willis, Jr. and Mrs. Richard Rankin, were introduced and given a warm welcome by the members, and a report on Thanksgiving baskets and clothing given to a needy family was made by Mrs. R. D. Beard.

Toys brought to the meeting will also go to the same needy families at Christmas and the business session was closed.

Progressive "cootie" made up pleasant diversion during the remainder of the evening and awards went to Mrs. Joseph W. Campbell, who was the holder of high score, Mrs. Mary Jane Coffman, second, and Mrs. Wayne Woodyard, third.

At the close of the game the members were invited to the dining room, where a beautifully appointed tea table from which dainty refreshments were served, was covered with a green lace cloth over red, and was centered with a Bavarian punch bowl brought from Germany by the hostess, with evergreen at the base, flanked with red tapers, with Mrs. William Clift serving delicious hot spiced tea.

Later the members enjoyed a gift exchange and a pleasant social hour.

The hostess committee for the evening was Mrs. N. M. Reiff, chairman, Mrs. Harry G. Craig, Mrs. Howard Foster, Mrs. Joseph M. Herbert and Mrs. Marvin Thornburg.

Hairdressers Hold Yule Party

The Christmas party of the Washington C. H. Chapter of the Hairdressers Guild was preceded Monday evening with a delicious turkey dinner at the Washington Country Club Drive-In.

Long tables decorated with lighted Yule log mounds of evergreen and red tapers which shed a soft light seated the group for the congenial dinner hour and later the business session was held at the Washington Hotel.

Mrs. Pauline Houser, president, presided, and a panel discussion was held on future hair styling.

The highlight of the evening was the exchange of beautifully wrapped gifts around a lighted Christmas tree, and the singing of Christmas carols with Mrs. Dorothy Snyder at the piano.

Hostesses for the evening were, Miss Valaska Rinehart, Mrs. Imogene Shaw and Mrs. Dorothy Snyder.

Members present in addition to the hostesses were: Mrs. Geneva Speakman of New Holland, Mrs. Ruth Clemmer of Jamestown, Mrs. Alice Fry, Mrs. Pauline Houser and Miss Norma Patton of Wilmington, Mrs. Dorothy Kinnison and Mrs. Brook Hike of Greenfield, Mrs. Thelma Bolton, Mrs. Ernestine Chichester, Mrs. Helen Plymire, Mrs. Mary McRobie, Mrs. Rachel Hutt, Mrs. Audrey Miller, Mrs. Doris West, Mrs. Janet Bonner, Mrs. Hazel Warnock, Mrs. Kathryn Kneisley, Mrs. Velva Christie, Mrs. Edna Ankrom, Mrs. Minnie Sutterfield, Mrs. Hazel Lucas and Mrs. Betty Baker.

WCTU Members Hold Yule Meeting

The Alice Taggart WCTU members assembled at the Jeffersonville Methodist Church for the annual Christmas meeting.

Mrs. Charles Seibert, president, opened the business session and the usual reports were followed with a program in charge of Mrs. Elvin Mattson, Mrs. Ray Fisher and Mrs. Forrest Moon.

The opening carol sung by the group was "Silent Night" and the Christmas story, as recorded in St. Luke, was read, followed with another carol, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and prayer by Mrs. Moon. Mrs. Mattson read the articles, "My Bible" and "Ted's Christmas Gifts," taken from "The Young Crusader," and articles from the Union Signal and the Ohio Messenger.

A Christmas playlet, "Keeping

Christ in Christmas," was given, with Mrs. Fisher taking the part of "Mrs. L. Right," Mrs. Forrest Moon as "Mrs. I. M. Willing" and "Mrs. I. S. Keen" by Mrs. Mattson.

The meeting was closed with the carol, "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing," and the WCTU benediction. Dainty refreshments were served by the program committee, who also were hostesses.

Guild Members Hold Enjoyable Christmas Party

Forty members and guests attended the Christmas party of the Wesleyan Service Guild held in Fellowship Hall at Grace Methodist Church.

The president, Miss Frances White, dispensed with the regular business session and the meeting was turned over to the vice president, Mrs. Doris Diffendal, who in turn introduced Miss Nancy McGuff and Miss Katie Bower, program leaders.

The spacious room was lighted only by red tapers in a large star on a table decorated with evergreen and they presented a most impressive program. Christmas carols softly sung were followed with the reading of the Christmas Story found in St. Luke and Miss McGuff spoke on the many women who have accomplished much for Christmas through the ages from Biblical times to the present day.

As she told of each woman she lighted an additional candle until the large star was entirely lighted.

The group joined in the singing of Christmas carols and Miss Bower conducted a most interesting quiz on Christmas customs and names.

Mrs. O. W. Winter, supply chairman, announced that a large assortment of toys to be sent to the Mother's Memorial Center in Cincinnati, had been brought and displayed them to the members.

Dainty refreshments suggestive of the approaching Christmas season were served at long tables decorated with multi-colored Christmas ornaments and arrangements of evergreens, by the hostess committee, Miss Katie Bower, chairman, Mrs. Mary Crone, Miss Nancy McGuff, Mrs. Ralph Child, Mrs. Robert Dunton, Mrs. George Pensyl and Mrs. Clayton Sexton.

Slum Clearance Law Review Set

COLUMBUS, O. — The Ohio Supreme Court will hear new arguments Jan. 13 in a suit to test constitutionality of Ohio's new urban rehabilitation and slum clearance law.

Only six judges heard oral arguments last month and today's announcement said a seventh judge would be designated from an appellate court to hear the new arguments.

Court attaches said that indicated a deadlock in the court.

Henry M. Bruestle, Cincinnati city attorney, brought the action to compel city officials to approve a $100,000 note authorized by council as a step in financing a three million dollar development project.

Not One Of Santa's Reindeer

Children's Home Here To Get Venison Dinner

For the first time in their lives, many of the boys and girls at the Fayette County Children's Home will have a dinner of venison this holiday season—and it won't be one of Santa Claus' famous reindeer.

Irvin Patrick, game warden for Fayette County who has been on patrol at the 68,000-acre Roosevelt Game Preserve in Scioto County during the open deer season in southern Ohio this winter, brought back home with him two does that had been shot illegally by hunters or were accidentally killed.

Deer season was open in 27 counties in the southern part of the state Dec. 11, 12 and 13 and many of the does were illegally killed. Patrick said "many of the hunters shoot the doe in the daytime and cover them with brush and tree limbs to hide them and then use their hunting knife to leave a trail to where the deer is so they can come back and get them late in the night. He said many of these attempts by hunters to sneak out illegal deer are foiled by the law abiding hunters who happen to find the deer and report to the game warden.

Patrick also said many hunters just shoot the does for target practice and leave them. Many of the does are accidentally killed, however, and that most of the hunters report them he added.

THE GAME WARDENS and officials of the counties give the illegal or accidentally killed does to welfare institutions that are operated by the counties or the state. Patrick said "the institutions of the southern counties have deer meat very frequently and are just as apt to have it in the middle of the summer as any other time so he decided to bring one of the does to the Fayette County Children's Home and one to the home in Pickaway County.

This will be a rare treat for the children in the two counties for most of them have never tasted venison. Each of the does weighs between 115 and 120 pounds.

The only other time that the Children's Home has had deer meat, Patrick said, was two years ago when one was turned over to him that had been accidentally killed in Highland County.

Arrangements for having them processed are being made but they won't be ready for the homes for two or three days, Patrick said.

Fund for CROP Is $1,169 Here

Canvass Completed In Six Townships

The fund being raised in Fayette County now for carrying out the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) today had reached $1,169.94—with still more to come.

That is nearly three times as much as was contributed in the entire county last year, and it has come from only six townships, two of which have not yet been completely covered by the canvassers.

The completed townships are Jasper, Union, Paint and Perry. The two not yet complete are Madison and Green.

Concord Township's committee, headed by Ralph Nisley, has reported that it will make its farm to farm collection of grain or cash this week.

The canvasses in Jefferson, Wayne and Marion are not expected to get under way for a few days.

The latest report—and it was only a partial report—came from W. W. Montgomery for Madison Township. Two teams of canvassers there reported $74.85. On these teams were Lester Haines and Howard Hopkins and Roger Hayes and Jerry Hidy. Arthur Schlachter was going it alone as the third team at last report.

THE SOLICITORS in Madison Township said that the majority of the farmers they had approached were sympathetic to the purposes of CROP. They also said they were getting about 90 percent of their contributions in cash and 10 percent in grain.

Haines and Hopkins brought back one of the most unique stories of the CROP campaign. They said N. W. Bostwick, an amateur radio operator, had told them he had been in contact with another ham operator in East Germany by radio and that this had led to a more extensive mail correspondence through the months.

Bostwick told the CROP solicitors his German friend had written him about what the help being sent to East Germans from the United States meant to them. He added that he had been sending things to his German friends and that, from what he had told him about the appreciation of American help, he was "very sympathetic" toward the CROP campaign, Hopkins said.

MRS. DORIS WIPERT, the county publicist for CROP, said she and others interested in CROP were "very happy over this first-hand report of the favorable impression American aid is making in Germany," but she emphasized that CROP "is serving areas all over the world where people are

Women in Court House Have Christmas Party

Women workers in county offices in the Court House get together for Christmas party at Grange Hall here. (Record-Herald photo)

The women who help carry on the county's business in the Court House forgot their worries about public affairs and had one big social get-together at their annual Christmas party at Grange Hall on West Elm Street Tuesday evening.

It all started with a turkey dinner at tables decorated appropriately for the holiday occasion, miniature Christmas tree, red candles and evergreen in attractive arrangement.

Following the dinner, Santa Claus made his appearance on the festive scene and presented gifts to all.

There was an entertainment program, too. David Johnson sang "You Belong to Me" and "I Saw hungry and distressed through no fault of their own."

The goal of the Fayette County CROP committee, headed by Rev. Sanford Lindsey, pastor of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, was tentatively set about a month ago at one carload of corn or its cash equivalent—that would be something like $4,500.

Mrs. Wipert said that "we realized we had set it high, and probably will not reach it, the results will be something to be proud of just the same."

Svend Peterson, the state CROP director, expressed satisfaction over the progress of the campaign to date.

WHS Junior Cagers Win Opener, 38 to 17

The Washington C. H. Junior High School basketball team opened its cage season Tuesday afternoon in the WHS gymnasium by turning back an invasion of Juniors from Mt. Sterling, 38 to 17.

This was the first time many of the boys on the WHS Junior team played on the big court in the gym against another school. Their coach, Fred Jacoby, was pleased with the boys but said they were still green and needed to improve. Sheets and Griffith made more than half of the points for the winners. Sheets had a total of 12 on four field goals and four free throws. Griffith had 10 points.

Phillips did most of the point making for the Mt. Sterling team. He made two field goals and four fouls for a total of 8 points.

Southern Cal Star Wins Punt Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—A matter of less than four inches per kick kept Colorado from making a clean sweep of the major college punting leadership this fall. That was the margin by which Deshaun's Southern California beat out Colorado's Zack Gordon for individual honors.

Jordan, champion kicker in 1950 and trying to become the second player in modern times to win the title twice, finished with a 43.4 yard average to Koch's 43.5 in final statistics released today by the NCAA service bureau.

Kiner's $90,000 Pay To Be Cut

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ralph Kiner of the Pirates, not Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, was the highest salaried player in 1952, it is now revealed. The major leagues' homerun king drew $90,000 last year, $10,000 more than Musial earned.

The $90,000 figure came to light when a Pirate spokesman, discussing the club, remarked:

"Kiner wasn't a $90,000 ball player last year and I think he knows it as well as we do. I have a hunch he's prepared to take a cut but I don't know whether he'll accept the full 25 per cent."

Perfect Game Barely Missed

Herm Schlnat came within three little pins of a perfect bowling score of 300 when he rolled 297 in his first game for the Club Rio team in its match with Bob's Cleaners.

After racking up 11 straight strikes, his 12th and last ball hit the head pin a little light and left 2, 4 and 5 pins standing.

But, at that, he set a new high game score for Bowland.

Schlnat was wearing a "King Bowler" shirt, which was made in Cleveland and if any bowler makes a 300 perfect score while wearing one he gets a prize of a $500 war bond.

Incidentally, Schlnat's team won the match with two out of three games. His 297 helped bring its first game total up to 1056 without handicap.

Jimmy Carter Held To Draw

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Fred (Babe) Herman of Los Angeles fought world lightweight champion Jimmy Carter to an unpopular draw in a 10-round non-title fight here Tuesday night.

Referee John Bassanelli and Judge Billy Burke called the fight a draw, overruling Judge Fred Bottaro who gave the bout to Herman, a decided underdog.

December Worst For Accidents

Total Of 457 Killed Last December

Last December was the worst month in 1951 for fatal accidents. That is not unusual, according to Chief of Police Vaiden Long. What was unusual was the wide difference between December and the other tragic months.

The chief reports that 457 persons died from accidents in Ohio's December accidents, three-fourths of them in home and traffic tragedies. Home led with 228, the motor vehicle had 168, with other public accidents accounting for 47 deaths.

This month can be as bad or worse. One-fourth of the traffic deaths came to pedestrians. It is a temptation to hurry since there are many things to do this month. But take time to cross streets properly. Carry parcels so you can see about you.

The Answers to everyday insurance problems *
By Leonard Korn and Dana Haver

QUESTION: Not long ago we had a fire in our house and we moved most of our furniture to the home of a neighbor. It's just an idea but if the neighbor's house had also burned. Would we have been paid for our furniture?

ANSWER: Yes, almost all fire insurance policies protect the owner of furniture against loss for a period of five days after the furniture has been moved to a new location. After that, it would be necessary to see your insurance agent about keeping the policy in force.

If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.

and use the right hands doors to enter or leave your car. Failure to follow such precautions costs too many lives now.

Sixty-four fatalities came from cars that were not under proper control; 23 died in collisions with trains; an equal number from collisions with fixed objects and 18 died without a collision—the car ran off the road, overturned or went into the ditch.

December's weather make speed doubly dangerous. Headlamps can not pierce the murky atmosphere. By the time danger is seen there isn't enough space left to stop the car. All that can be tried is to steer past the danger. No success, too often.

Forty miles an hour is as fast as one may travel any winter night, but even this is too rapid when roads are wet and slippery.

The chief cautioned all motorists to be extra alert during the Christmas shopping season.

$2,600 Now In From Seal Sale

'Reminder Cards' To Go Out Soon

Just one month after the Christmas Seal sale were sent out by mail to 4,000 Fayette County residents, approximately $2,600 has come back to the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association in contributions.

J. Paul Strey, the association's executive-secretary, announced the returns as 2,500 "reminder cards" were prepared for mailing to those from whom no returns have been received yet.

Strey said it was difficult to keep up with the response with exact figures because "they keep coming in all the time."

For the same reason, he said, reminder cards will go to those who have sent in their contributions. In such cases, he suggested that the cards simply be disregarded.

The "reminders," Strey explained, were sent out just for that purpose. Many have told him, he said, that they "just forgot" or had "just neglected" to send in their contributions. Most of them, he added, appreciate the reminders and usually send their contributions in by return mail.

ONE MILLION of the little Christmas Seals were mailed out Nov. 17 with the cooperation of the Business and Professional Women's Club whose members put the Seals in the envelopes with the letters of explanation and addressed the envelopes.

The colorful Christmas Seals, for nearly half a century the symbol of the fight against tuberculosis, have been appearing on letters in increasing numbers during the last week or so.

There was a time when it was customary to send in a penny for each seal, but now that the penny has so little value, contributions are made in proportion to the contributor's ability or will to enter the fight against tuberculosis.

Strey said the association hoped the contributions would amount to at least $3,500 this year. Last year, the Christmas Seal sale added a little more than $3,200.

The reminder cards which say merely that "It's not too late to buy your Xmas seals—they fight tuberculosis," were illustrated by Miss Bess Cleveland with the head and neck of a giraffe and the words: "Hi-hiya folks."

STREY SAID it was apparent from the returns already in that contributors are being more generous than ever this year and that few of the seals have been rejected and returned.

The increase in the average contribution this year was attributed to a better general conception of the work the association is doing and its accomplishments.

Literally hundreds of chest X-ray have been made for individuals in Fayette County and Washington C. H. this year free of charge. A few positive or suspected cases of tuberculosis have been discovered. If caught in time, Strey explained, tuberculosis can be effectively and successfully treated.

One of the purposes of the Tuberculosis and Health Association is to discover the disease before it is too late.
